Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurFrom the award-winning author Liz Jasper comes the long-awaited third novel in the Underdead vampire mystery seriesNot undead, merely...underdeadScience teacher Jo Gartner staked the dangerously attractive vampire who turned her almost undead, and his minions haven't come after her for revenge. Why not?Who cares. She has everything under control.Except she's not sure Will is really dead. And Detective Gavin Raines, her vampire-hunting crush, has popped back in her life to investigate an odd string of murders...and maybe finally ask her out on a real date.At least her her teaching job is straightforward. Or rather it was before the world's most perfect teacher joins the staff and seems to be noticing that her vampire traits are, well, a lot more apparent than she'd like them to be. Caught between two worlds and fitting into neither, Jo must risk it all to take her own path--before the next person dead is her.

The sequel, Underdead In Denial, was published the following year to critical acclaim. She also writes young adult novels and is hard at work on the next book in the Underdead series. Her first job was teaching middle school science. Apparently jealous of her students place in the classroom, she eventually went back to school to earn a couple of masters degrees and a certification and now works as a financial advisor. With this career path, writing paranormal novels was not only natural it was necessary. Liz lives in California near hiking trails and good public libraries, in a house where chocolate is welcome and the resident cat gets fatter and lazier every year. And where now there is a large black dog with big ears trying to get into the mix.
